

Public Appointments Service Social Media Guidelines

These guidelines outline participation criteria for postings and published commentary on any of the Public Appointments Service social media sites, including but not limited to Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn.

The Public Appointments Service uses interactive online social media to share information with our community. Our Social Media sites are managed by authorised personnel of the Public Appointments Service. We welcome your input and thoughts, but will remove comments or content that include:

- Obscene or racist content
- Personal attacks, insults, or threatening language
- Potentially libelous statements
- Plagiarized material; any material in violation of any laws, including copyright
- Private, personal information published without consent
- Information or links unrelated to the content of the forum
- Commercial promotions or spam

The Public Appointments Service social media sites will be monitored on a regular basis during normal hours of operation.

We welcome feedback and ideas from all our followers, and will endeavour to join the conversation where possible.

However, we may not be able to reply individually to all messages or comments received.

Please do not include personal/private information in your comments to us.

Failure to engage should not be viewed as a refusal to comment on a particular issue.

Sending a message via Social Media will not be considered as contacting our office for official purposes and we will not be obliged to monitor or respond to requests for information through the social media channels. The best means of communicating a query to the Public Appointments Service is by using the info@publicjobs.ie email address.

If you follow us, we will not automatically follow you back.

We will endeavour to ensure that any emerging themes or helpful suggestions are passed to the relevant people.

The Public Appointments Service is not responsible for the accuracy of content posted by any subscriber in any forum; opinions expressed in comments on Public Appointments Service social media forums do not necessarily represent those of the organisation.

All comments, once posted, become the property of the Public Appointments Service and we reserve the right to reproduce, distribute, publish, display or edit same. Derivative work also can be created from such postings or content, and used for any purpose, in any form and on any media.

The Public Appointments Service is not responsible, liable for and does not endorse the privacy practices of Facebook, Twitter or LinkedIn or any linked websites. Your use of Facebook, Twitter LinkedIn and any linked websites is at your own risk.

Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn may occasionally be unavailable and we accept no responsibility for this lack of service.

We will not engage with, and we discourage posts or comments on issues of a political nature.

Comments should not advertise commercial products or services.

This comment policy may be revised at any time.

By choosing to comment and/or utilise any of the Public Appointments Service Social Media sites, users are deemed to agree to this policy.
